I would focus my career on Oversight and Governance and Protection and Defense. Since I have the abilities to fit into a leadership position, which fits into my interest, oversight and governance appeals most to me. Duties involving strategic planning, policy creation, and guaranteeing compliance with organizational and legal standards appeal to me. Protection and Defense appeals also since it involves protecting systems and data, which is important in the changing threat environment of today. However, Investigations appeals to me the least inside the NICE Workforce framework. Parts that are not as suited for my abilities or duties call for an excellent amount of attention to detail and incident response knowledge, which are requirements of investigation responsibilities.
