Meme 1: “When You Realize Humans Are the Biggest Security Threat”

This meme highlights how human errors cause most cybersecurity breaches like accidentally clicking malicious links. The focus of human-centered cybersecurity is on educating people to steer clear of dangers like this.

Meme 2: “ If only users cared as much about passwords as memes”

Many individuals neglect the importance of having strong and secure passwords which is essential to cybersecurity. This meme highlights the necessity for cybersecurity solutions that are in line with user behavior and playfully highlights the difficulty of getting people to take security seriously.

Meme 3: “Someone sends me a phishing link.

Me: Not gonna work, I have cybersecurity training!!!”

Programs that raise user understanding of cybersecurity help people spot scams. Human-centered security guarantees that users receive appropriate awareness campaigns and training.
