

Summary: The scope of the problem was broad, and required solutions for the quantity of air, the states, the required capacity of the cooling and dehumidifying unit, as well as the amount of liquid drained, and drawing out the psychrometric chart.

Materials

- Air

- Cooling and dehumidifying unit

Analysis

After understanding the psychrometric charts and drawing out the states allowed me to make the proper energy balance equations.