The Implications of Capital Punishment within society

	"If you are poor, the chances of being sentenced to death are immensely higher than if you are rich. There could be no greater indictment of the death penalty than the fact that in practice it is really a penalty reserved for people from lower socio-economic groups. This turns it into a class-based form of discrimination in most countries, thus making it the equivalent of an arbitrary killing." (OHCHR, 2017).
Psychology	"Another factor is whether the death penalty serves as a proper deterrent from committing crime, the connection between them may not be a strong one but out of the top 25 states with the highest homicide rates, 20 of them have the death penalty, disproving a majority of arguments for capital punishment." (Tures, 2017).

📍 PETE BAKER

The disciplines you're leaning on make a lot of sense to me.
