1. Describe five businesses or nonprofits that have been created in my field.

ANS:

- 1) FireEye: A cybersecurity company that provides advanced threat intelligence, incident response, and malware detection services to businesses and organizations worldwide.
- 2) CrowdStrike: A cybersecurity company specializing in endpoint protection and threat intelligence, offering solutions to detect and respond to advanced cyber threats.
- 3) Darktrace: A leading AI-powered cybersecurity company that uses machine learning algorithms to detect and respond to cyber threats in real-time, providing autonomous cybersecurity defense.
- 4) CyberArk: A company focused on privileged access management, offering solutions to protect and manage privileged accounts, credentials, and secrets to prevent cyber attacks and insider threats.
- 5) The Electronic Frontier Foundation (EFF): A non-profit organization dedicated to defending civil liberties in the digital world, advocating for privacy, free speech, and cybersecurity rights.

2. What is your overall perspective on the entrepreneurship experience?

ANS:

My overall perspective on entrepreneurship is positive. It seems to be an interesting area of life that attempts to bring ideas to life, through identifying opportunities, taking risks, and using creative innovations. Above all it can be seen as a positive force because it always attempts to minimize or eliminate all sorts of problems.

3. How did entrepreneurship prepare or not prepare you to be a competitive candidate for vacant positions?

ANS: Because of the fact that entrepreneurship doesn't prepare an individual for an industry specific knowledge, it can be negative for some positions that may require a structured experience. Some positive competitive advantages can be the opportunity it provides for developing essential skills such as resourcefulness, leadership skill, adaptability, and a strong work ethic.

4. What suggestions do you have to improve the experience?

ANS: To improve the entrepreneurial experience, suggestions include fostering a supportive ecosystem, providing access to mentorship and funding, promoting collaboration and knowledge-sharing, offering educational resources, and simplifying regulatory processes.

5. What's next for you?

ANS: Having learned many entrepreneurial concepts in this class, I will be more aware of looking for opportunities in any problems I see.
