

Cameron Kim

Article Review #1

CYSE 201S

24 February 2025

The Analysis of Cyberbullying on Social Media

This article review will showcase the analysis of the nature of cyberbullying on social media platforms and explain the definitions and challenges that come along with it.

Relation to the Principles of Social Sciences

Some offenders are influenced by others to cyberbully people. Their main intent is typically to get something out of it or just for fun entirely. Social norms also have an effect on cyberbullying. Many cyberbullies pick on people for their nationality, skin color, or even disabilities. Offenders can find something different in a victim and make fun of them due to certain social norms.

Hypothesis

The main focus of this article is cyberbullying. On the first page of the source, it says “Cyberbullying on social media is a significant public health concern” (Ray 1). This article seeks to eliminate the inconsistencies of defining cybersecurity as well as highlight the impact of cyberbullying in today’s society.

Types of Research Methods

The researchers used a “systematic review exploring cybersecurity on social media” by getting a better understanding of cyberbullying through the evaluation of social media and questioning those who use it (Ray 1).

Types of Data

The researchers searched a wide variety of data to ensure the accuracy of their findings. From September 2022 to December 2022, “in total, over 4,000 articles were identified through database searching” (Ray 3). This research also includes certain self-reported data that the researchers used.

Relation to the Course

This topic is related to the material discussed in Module 5, which speaks about the human factors in cybersecurity. I believe that behavioral theories are the main focus of cyberbullies. Offenders look at their peers cyberbullying which influences them to attack another person on social media. Mass media also influences offenders in their attacks.

Relation to Real Life

This topic relates to everyday struggles because people nowadays are criticized and cyberbullied based on their appearance or beliefs. People of different or minority groups in genders, sex, race, religion, and appearance makes them a target to those who disagree with that certain group of individuals.

Contributions of this Study to Society

This article’s contributions are important because they give readers an in-depth understanding of the meaning, prevalence, and impact of cyberbullying. This study helps people understand the signs of cyberbullying so that they know what to look out for while being online.

Conclusion

In conclusion, this article is important because it irons out the creases in the definition of cyberbullying and its impact on our society. It is important to understand these concepts because it can help social media users better defend themselves online.