

The echo command makes the terminal repeat whatever is within the quotation marks.

The date command has the terminal tell you the current date and time.

The ls command has the terminal list the computer's files.

The pwd command shows the current working directory.

