

What I'm most interested in in the NICE Workforce Framework is the Operate and Maintain section. I would enjoy a career in which I would provide maintenance to any devices and/or services that need attention. An example would be maintaining an Intrusion Detection Service (IDS) to make sure that we know who gets in and we'll know if someone unauthorized did.

What I'm least interested in is the Oversee and Govern section. I can understand that it's a valuable asset when working with IT, but I'm not a leader. If you give me an assignment/job to do, I'll most likely do it without "talkback".
