

Most sense- 1) Political

<https://economictimes.indiatimes.com/magazines/panache/new-generation-of-angry-you-thful-hackers-join-the-hackivism-wave-adding-to-cyber-security-woes/articleshow/81707844.cms>

If it's for taking a stance in politics, it can be reasonable, albeit still a crime. Especially when a form of authority is trying to "suppress" a group from expressing their thoughts and beliefs.

2)For Money

I can't access this so I don't have a response for it.

3)Recognition

https://www.theregister.com/2021/06/30/bradley_niblock_election_ddos/

You shouldn't just harass someone just for recognition, especially if it's for social media. It makes the suspect look childish and portrays them as needy.

4)Entertainment

<https://9to5mac.com/2021/07/19/man-behind-linkedin-scraping/>

If you want to have fun then there are plenty of other options than just doxxing innocent people you don't even know.

5)Cyberbullying

<https://www.heraldive.co.za/news/2021-05-31-cyberbullying-and-online-sexual-grooming-of-children-on-the-increase/>

Cyberbullying shouldn't even be considered a choice in schools. It's a waste of time for people who have anger issues.

6) Revenge

<https://newsfromwales.co.uk/revenge-porn-victims-in-wales-often-feel-let-down-by-the-law-as-cybercrime-slips-through-the-net/>

There should never be a justifiable reason to commit revenge porn on anyone. Ultimately, it makes the person who did it look worse than the victim.

Least sense- 7) Multiple Reasons

https://www.infosecurity-magazine.com/news/what-drives-hackers-to-a-life-of/?_cf_chl_jschl_tk__=pmd_c1d89a4695edbd23f2bceb54d70f35ce5e536e86-1626721164-0-ggNtZGzNAfijcnBszQi6

The reasoning behind the hacker's motive doesn't seem reasonable. It more so sounds more like what a child would say. Just because they do it for "multiple reasons" doesn't mean it's justified, there needs to be some kind of evidence as to why they did it.
