PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am a Cybersecurity major at Old Dominion University, developing a foundation in security principles, network defense, and emerging technologies. I am interested in the connection between cybersecurity, data analytics, and artificial intelligence. As digital threats grow more complex, I am eager to explore how data-driven insights and intelligent systems can strengthen security operations. With my academic background and independent learning, I want to contribute to the innovation of AI-focused solutions within cybersecurity. I am committed to expanding my skills and preparing for a career in cybersecurity.
