In terms of websites there is one that is my favorite above all others CatGPT. Where when a response is typed the only response is cat pictures or meows. The fake aspect is in the header instead of chat it says cat. The second one I found was downloadfreeram.com. It is just a joke site where people can download junk files. The site is well made but those lacking in computer knowledge would think it was real and RAM was not a physical piece of hardware.
The third website I found wascheapdealz.com. It is fake due to the low graphical design level, grammar errors and no secure payout method.
