

After looking at some of the exhibitions that Dona Sofia has, I really liked the work of Vivian Suter. Her artwork is colorful, full of life, and connects with nature, which I like the most. What was interesting about it was that there is a tour available with her where she explains some of her artwork and her origin of being an artist. Another art collection that I really liked was the Lost Thought: Autarky and Exile, which will be opening soon. It has a lot of history, visuals of war from the 1940's, and many different mediums that the art is expressed in. The people depicted especially have amazing story-telling facial expressions.

Me gusta la exposición de Vivian Suter. Tiene arte moderno y contemporáneo. También tiene pinturas de naturaleza con rojas, azules, verdes y amarillas.
