REFLECTION ESSAY #2

As we previously mentioned the progress in regards to the project, here in this essay, we'll reflect on some of the meetings we've had to bring about success. Without meeting for this project, I think we'd have an abundant deficiency from left and right such as a lack of ideas and suggestions, no team planning and agreements, and potentially an incomplete project/program. Moreover, when it came to meetings and communication in general, we first had a few talks back and forth using emails. I would see their messages days later due to not being active enough on Gmail and if not mistaken, the same goes with the rest of the team. However, after a few attempts, we decided that creating a group would suffice our needs and that's where we started using Discord for our meetings. Moreover, we had several live meetings regarding our team. Although I will admit, I didn't participate in this as lot as I should have due to circumstances, I feel like the team has contributed a lot better after doing so. Briefly, in the meetings and communications we had, ideas like the business name, its logo, financial plans, how to generate revenue, and so on. are a few things we covered Overall, we had lots of meetings and communications and although we didn't have a great start to begin the project, we finished out nice and strong.
