Company Main Product/Service

FedEx's main products and services center around logistics, transportation, and delivery solutions. They offer things such as, express shipping, ground shipping, freight service, e-commerce solutions, and supply chain solutions.

FedEx is used by millions of customers for their delivery and shipment services, they provide fast, and accurate shipment and is one of the American standards in shipping.

Why does FedEx need cybersecurity?

FedEx needs cybersecurity to protect the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of its data, systems, and infrastructure. As a global logistics and delivery company, FedEx handles vast amounts of sensitive information, including customer data, payment information, shipping details, and business partner information.
