

Module Five Discussion Board 2: Research Fundamentals

- Explore the Research Fundamentals tutorial on the ODU Libraries website: <http://guides.lib.odu.edu/researchfundamentals> Be sure to pay close attention to sections 5 (Resource Types), 6 (Evaluating Resources), 7 (Library Databases), and 8 (Cite).
- When you are ready, complete the quiz at the end. Then come back here to this Discussion Board and reflect in 150 words or so on what you learned in the tutorial and any questions, comments, or concerns you may have.

My response: Going through the short videos about what you can do at the library was very informal. I enjoyed how they explained how to find information for research in a short amount of time with simple keywords. I also did not know that we had librarians for each department which I find helpful because they can help me find exactly what I am looking for and give me feedback that is useful. The different writing styles were fun to learn and now I know which writing style is appropriate for which class and how to use them. These videos are useful for newcomers or someone who just needs more help and myself will be using some of these different strategies I have learned to help me with future coursework. Everything you could possibly need is in the library guide with great examples in each tab to help you understand.
