

ENGL 231C: Introduction to Technical Writing

Midterm: Instruction Manual / User Guides

Each student group is responsible for composing a Manual / Guide for a selected mobile game or software application. The chosen software must be free, requiring no sign-ups, and available on Apple and Android mobile devices. The intent of this written document is to provide new users [classmates] a helpful introduction to installing and using the software on their mobile device.

Writing the Manual / Guide:

- Title
- Introduction
- Key Features
- Installation [Instructions]
- Getting Started [Instructions]
- Software Updates
- Contact Information

See the PPT and examples provided in class for software ideas and further specifics on manuals.

Presenting the Manual / Guide:

- The new users [classmates] should be informed about the software and encouraged to follow along on their mobile devices regarding the installation and getting started guide. •

Each individual in the student group must play a role in the presentation of the guide.
