

For my second talk abroad experience I decided to talk with my same partner, David Espinoza. He was very easy to talk to during our first talk abroad experience. Being that we could talk about anything I thought it would be easier to talk to him again. Me and David have various things in common and I felt comfortable speaking Spanish with him which is why I chose him again. In David's bio he stated that he wanted to meet people that are his age to talk about our lives in general. He likes to play guitar, bass, drums and the piano. During this talk abroad, I learned that David has a pet rabbit and we talked about that a lot. We also had to discuss lesson 12 during our conversation which was cool because I've always wanted to visit Nicaragua.
