

Isaac Flores

Professor Aslan

Cybersecurity and Social Sciences

19 March 2024

Week 11: Journal Entry

I found the article to be interesting as it was focused on the importance of social sciences and its important influence on society. The use of bots was a topic in the article that interested me because of the various uses bots can be used for. Much of the goal of social sciences is to understand human interactions and behavior related to other topics of interest. After reading much of the article, I realized the importance of influencing the truth rather influencing made op fallacies to society. Social sciences can also be used as a from to attack society through the use of misinformation to enticed some sort of response from society. Social engineering attacks have the potential to be very impactful during times of war as an example of social engineering can be digital propaganda to spread a specific political stance.