While I was reading Maslow Hierarchy of needs I realized there are multiple things in this article that have to do with my experience with technology. I use technology daily to order my groceries and do my class assignments. Technology plays a major role in everyone's day to day life. I get safety from technology when I need to check my personal info, it makes me feel safe to know I have a two step verification on my accounts so if someone else accessed it without my permission I would get notified and I can act accordingly from there. Technology also gives self actualization an opportunity where we can learn new skills and get degrees online which is a major help for people who can not commute or have other obligations.
