Jay Tambe
4/6/25
CYSE200T

Human Factoring

If we have a tight budget as CISO then the practical training for cybersecurity is solely investing in new technology. I have seen firsthand that a well trained cybersecurity employee who understands threats and how to react could be the best defense against threats. I would allocate a significant portion to hands-on training, and phishing workshops. Then with the rest I would focus on essential tech that can help like 2 step verification, and endpoint detection that can flag any anomalies.

Citations

https://cymulate.com/blog/cybersecurity-budget-optimization/