Jayden Goldsmith

Week 6 – Journal Entry 6

After watching the video, what I think the human firewall is about is managing the risk of people. Like Tony Perez says in the video, "cybersecurity isn't a technical problem, it's a people problem." He gives an example how small businesses, because of their lack of money, should not be spending money on anything fancy unless they make sure that their employees are properly trained first.

It is also important that people are careful about having their work information on their personal devices because if that device were to be stolen by a criminal they could have access to all that important information. Also if an employee falls for a phishing email they are introducing a risk into the system that could also be harmful to the company.