JOIN OUR SCIENCE PUB!

Science Pubs ODU

is a special series supported by WHRO's Sinking Cities initiative. This lets the community informally engage with ODU researchers on resilience, sea level rise and how research is responding to the challenges facing our communities.

The threats of climate change are high. Sea levels are rising, the earth is warming and extreme weather conditions become more frequent. Soon, many coastal cities –that play a vital role in bordering communities' accessibility to trade overseas –will be underwater.

Help us help you be apart of our discussion to bring awareness to the heavily flooded areas in Hampton Roads Virginia.
