Week 13 - Journal Entry 14

After reading the Clario article about illegal activities online I think the five most serious offenses are downloading copyrighted content without permission hacking visiting the dark web for illegal activities cyberbullying and stealing someone's identity. These actions are serious because they can harm both individuals and society as a whole. Downloading copyrighted material might seem harmless but it leads to big financial losses for creators and breaks copyright laws. Hacking and identity theft invade people's privacy and can cause financial trouble or emotional pain for those affected. Cyberbullying can seriously hurt the mental health of young people. Lastly using the dark web to buy illegal items like drugs or weapons puts everyone's safety at risk and supports crime. These behaviors are not just wrong—they are also illegal and can lead to serious punishment.
