The Defense of Social Cybersecurity

In today's age, technology can be used to anyone's advantage, especially by those who create a space of deception within the cyber realm. Information propaganda has been an efficient tactic that Russians implement in warfare. This misleading strategy allows Russians to confuse their enemies in opposing states and their allies. The Russian information blitzkrieg is an impeccable tactic in response to the Army University Press article about social cybersecurity. The Russian propaganda apparatus allowed the Russians to interfere with the personal, social, and cultural demographics of their enemies and other state actors. By having an advantage in cyberspace, they could pursue their malicious motives. This is why it is imperative to implement the correct cyber policy, measures, and strategies to help defend and protect our nation from falling into the tricks and tactics of our enemy, who initially just wants to deter and destroy our nation.
