

I thoroughly enjoyed watching the video about the different foods that are popular in Latin America. I think it would be so fun to go on a food tour of this region of the world at some point. I would personally love to visit Bolivia and taste a vegetable salteña. I think these could make a great meal, especially on cold winter nights. Soy vegetariana así que me gustaría probar todos los platos con verduras.