

1. (Political) Despite being legality of it being wrong I firmly believe that acting on ideological beliefs may not be the smartest idea but still could be argued for.
2. (Revenge) Cybercrimes acted on revenge make a lot of sense but going to certain extents with endangering others is where I draw the line.
3. (For Money) Doing things for the financial gain being a drive is reasonable but at what cost is to be thought of?
4. (Entertainment) Doing things out of curiosity is a good way of spending time but just make sure to understand what you're doing.
5. (Multiple Reasons) Having mixed motives for a cause for the action isn't ideal and is very odd.
6. (Recognition) Seeking reputation through doing evil is not so smart once people are after you.
7. (Boredom) Doing things of such out of boredom is ludicrous and those people should be watched thoroughly.