NICE Workforce Framework

Areas that I would like to focus my career in cyber security are K-12 education and university and college teaching. I would like to teach K-12 or universities. It is important to spread awareness about the job opportunities cybersecurity bring as well as its importance in everyday life. Cyber Security is a very underrated field with lots of spots that need to be filled. Being a teacher would be a perfect opportunity to teach students how to break into the cyber security field. An area I'm not too interested in is being an employer. I've never been interested in entrepreneurship or being the boss in any company because of my relaxed personality type. Cyber attack prevention techniques not only needed for big companies but the everyday person as well. I would like to be a part of the initiative to spread more awareness about cybersecurity to make the digital world a safer place.
