

TONY BRESLIN

HUDDLE TECH GAMING SPORTS TRADER

In the trading room, Tony teams with coworkers to cover college and professional basketball. He works to insure that quality trades go through for Huddle Tech clients by analyzing sports games and deciphering key information. Tony's entrance into trading operations originates from his experience as a sports bettor. Tony has a Business Management Degree from UMass Dartmouth, where he played football and lacrosse.

Skills Needed

Other Requirements

Communication

Reliability

Bachelors Degree

Enthusiasm for Sports

Analytical

Knowledge of Sports

Experience in Sports Gaming

Application of Computer Software

Work Day

On an average day, Tony tends his workstation, utilizing information systems to guide his attention and analysis of events. Tony began with live odds working late at night, but now works in the morning optimizing pre-game lines. Trading operations entails great financial pressure, requiring speed and attention to detail. Tony's favorite part of his job is tracking sports and collaborating with team members.

Clients

PINNACLE

Circa | SPORTS

betcris

Fanatics

