

The reason why Ann's behavior is related to the need of cybersecurity is because it shows how people can be taken advantage of so easily. The email that Ann received could be seen as harmless and I can see why she didn't think twice when filing out the information. This shows us that we need to take the necessary precautions. Those precautions can be building a fire wall, getting a secure VPN, using honey pods and making your password more complex.