

Journal 17

I think this statement makes a lot of sense. I say this because Instagram really weighs on people's mind. It has been proven that a lot of people will upload to just get people to like their stuff and if they do not get results that they wanted some will get sad. Even with being that said in my opinion I would give them either. I say this because all of them can be very addicting, we see this everyday with social media, drinking, and weed.