

Journal 6

One thing that is important is protecting the people you care about; I say this because I have older people in my family who don't really deal with technology like that. Since I am pursuing a career in cyber I can help them be safe, teach them basic safety concerns and other things to look out for. Another thing is happiness, I say this because it really does not matter how much you make if you don't like it you won't be happy.