

The first group of homework assignments were pulled from chapter 9 and consisted of Otto cycle, Brayton cycle, and turbojet engine problems. All of the problems involved defining each state of the system and utilizing the first law of thermodynamics and other related equations to solve for the desired variable. There were numerous problems that required solving, which helped prepare for test 1 by gaining a full understanding of the chapter 9 concepts.