

The “Echo” command repeats any input you put into the echo command line. The “date” command will give you the current date with the current time when executed. The “LS” command gives you a list of different things like pictures, videos, and music. The “pwd” code helps you find out where you are within your linux.